Media and Recording Notice

Photos may be taken and film and sound recordings made during the conference for documentation and public relations purposes. These may be published on the Internet, on social media, and in other media for further use. By attending the conference, participants agree to such use of recordings and images without claim to remuneration. If participants do not wish to be photographed or recorded, they are kindly requested to inform the organizer in advance.

During the Conference – Awareness

We strive to ensure that the SAERD26 is a place of respectful intellectual exchange, free of discrimination and violations of attendees' personal boundaries.

If you feel that the organizers or individual participants have failed to meet these principles, requiring rapid action, please report this to the reception desk. You can ask to speak (if desired anonymously, by telephone) to one of the SAERD26 organizers. In non-urgent cases you can also inform the organisers of issues and make suggestions by writing to the conference email address (see the cover page).

Credible complaints against participants can lead to their exclusion from the current or future conferences.
